

Open Flocking Season Begins October 1

What is flocking season you ask? It is waking up to a lawn full of pink flamingos. In order to help raise $72,000 for the Stop Hunger Now food packing event in April, the youth will be out flocking. The youth will be selling flocks on Sunday mornings after services or you can find the form on the website. Flocking is the perfect way to show a person you care, for birthdays, anniversaries, congratulations, promotions, or for no particular reason at all. The youth would love to have flocks out every night in October and will continue throughout the year for special occasion flocking. The person you are flocking does not have to be a member of our church. It could be a co-worker, neighbor, parent, etc. All the youth ask is that it be in the Greenville/Simpsonville area.

Sign up by filling out a form and giving it to our youth with a check or cash. Your donation will be tax deductible. If there is a special night that you want the person flocked make sure to put that on the form. The youth will perform the flocking and the removal. If the person flocked wants to designate the next person flocked, all we ask is for a donation. There will not be a fee to have the flock removed. The youth are very excited about this fundraiser so please have fun with them and if you are flocked, enjoy the experience and know that someone was thinking about you in love.

Oh, and just in case you do not want a pretty scene of pink flamingos in your yard, you can buy some insurance to make sure you are not flocked.

Watch out! Flocking season begins! If you have any questions, please contact Anne Vogt@anne.vogt@charter.net.
